

Highlights

- GP evolves interpretable, interval-aware dispatching rules for the interval job shop
- The rule selected on validation beats every constructive baseline on all 70 instances
- Rules evolved on four 20×15 instances generalize zero-shot across sizes and families
- Width terminals make executions more predictable under a robustness objective
- Sampled rule beats a genetic algorithm up to budgets that grow with instance size